

It's Time to Take Action

Significant intensity has been reached on the importance of taking action

“And, thinking specifically about the issue of improving transportation infrastructure in Colorado, including roads, bridges, highways, public transit, and walking and biking options – Using a scale from 0 to 10, where 0 means it is “not at all important” and 10 means it is “extremely important,” how important is it to you personally that action be taken to address the state’s transportation infrastructure?” (MEAN SCORE: 7.04)
